MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

Defendant JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. (“Defendant”) respectfully submits the following Memorandum of Points and Authorities in support of its concurrently filed Motion to Dismiss the Class Action Complaint (“Complaint”) filed by Plaintiffs pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6).

I. INTRODUCTION

By current count, this Complaint represents Plaintiffs’ fifth attempt to hold Defendant responsible for alleged defects with their mortgage. All told, Plaintiffs’ claims have been reviewed by five different sets of judges, including two here in the Central District, who have all uniformly held that Plaintiffs’ claims against Defendant are baseless and twice entered judgment against Plaintiffs. Now, Plaintiffs bring this Complaint against Defendant based the same loan and property asking this fifth court to rule differently than the four prior courts. As with the predecessor complaints, Plaintiffs’ claims are meritless and must be dismissed.

Here, Plaintiffs filed a 226-paragraph, 60-page Complaint seeking to hold Defendant responsible for actions surrounding the origination and assignment of their February, 2007, $862,500 Home Equity Line of Credit (“HELOC”) obtained from Washington Mutual Bank (“WaMu”). The HELOC was secured by the deed of trust (“DOT”) encumbering the real property located at 5936 Maury Ave., Woodland Hills, CA 91367 (“Property”). Plaintiffs’ eleven causes of action fall within two primary categories: (1) those related to the origination, servicing and assignment of their HELOC (“HELOC Claims”); and (2) those related to their failure to secure a loan modification under the federal Home Affordable Modification Program (“HAMP”) (“HAMP Claims”). As shown below, Plaintiffs’ Complaint must be denied with prejudice because (i) the HELOC Claims are barred by the doctrine of res judicata; (ii) the HELOC Claims are also barred under the Rooker-Feldman Doctrine; and (iii) none of Plaintiffs’ claims state a claim for which relief can be granted.

1 First, Plaintiffs' HELOC Claims are barred by the doctrine of res judicata.
 2 Plaintiffs first bite at this judicial apple involved a state court action in the Los 3 Angeles County Superior Court relating to the HELOC claims. The complaint was 4 dismissed on the merits and judgment was entered in Defendant's favor.

5 Second, in addition to being barred by res judicata, the Rooker-Feldman
 6 Doctrine is an independent ground to preclude the HELOC Claims from being re-7 litigated here. The state courts have determined that these claims are meritless and 8 this Court should uphold such decisions.

9 Third, Plaintiffs do not have a legal basis to pursue any of their claims. As 10 shown in detail below, Plaintiffs' Complaint ignores the requisite elements required 11 for any of their eleven different causes of action. As such, controlling legal 12 authority does not support any claim for relief under any of Plaintiffs' faulty 13 theories.

14 II. PROCEDURAL HISTORY AND BACKGROUND

15 A. The First State Court Action And Two State Appeals

16 On July 20, 2009, Plaintiffs commenced a civil action against Defendant in 17 the Los Angeles County Superior Court entitled Markowicz, et al. v. Downey, et al., 18 Case No. BC418153 (the "First State Court Action").¹ (See Defendant's Request 19 for Judicial Notice ("RJN") Exh. A.) The complaint in the First State Court Action 20 asserted five causes of action alleging improprieties in the origination, servicing 21 and assignment of the HELOC. (See RJN Exh. B.) On February 2, 2011, Plaintiffs 22 filed the operative Second Amended Complaint ("SAC"), wherein they asserted 23 causes of action against Defendant alleging that (1) WaMu acted improperly during 24 the origination of their HELOC; (2) their HELOC was void because it was procured 25 by fraud, and (3) as a result Defendant could not have been assigned any interest in 26 their HELOC when WaMu failed in 2008. (See RJN Exh. C ¶¶ 18-85). All of the 27

 28 ¹ On June 1, 2010, Plaintiffs added Defendant JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. as "Doe 2" in the First Amended Complaint. (See RJN Exh. A) claims in the First State Court Action are based on the same HELOC and DOT at issue here. On April 21, 2011, Defendant was dismissed from the First State Court Action on the merits and entered judgment (the “State Court Judgment”) in Defendant’s favor on May 4, 2011. (See RJN Exhs. D-E.)

On June 10, 2011, Plaintiffs appealed to the California Court of Appeal, Case No. B233602 (the “State Court Appeal”). (See RJN Exhs. F-G.) On August 29, 2012, the appellate court affirmed the State Court Judgment. (See RJN Exh. H.) On January 18, 2013, Plaintiffs filed a petition for review with the California Supreme Court, which was denied on February 4, 2013. (See RJN Exh. I.)

B. The First District Court Action

Despite having had their claims rejected by the California trial court, appellate court, and Supreme Court, Plaintiffs pursued these claims in federal court by challenging the Superior Court judge that rendered the initial dismissal. On March 11, 2013, Plaintiffs filed Markowicz v. Superior Court, Case No. 2:13-cv-01731-CAS-RZ (“First District Court Action”). (See RJN Exh. J.) Plaintiffs claimed that the Superior Court Judge improperly dismissed their First State Court Complaint. (See RJN Exh. K.) Magistrate Judge Zarefsky rejected Plaintiffs’ claims and determined that Rooker-Feldman barred such a challenge to state-court rulings. Markowicz v. Superior Court, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 72095, *3-4 (C.D. Cal. 2013) (accepted by Markowicz v. Superior Court, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 72099 (C.D. Cal. 2013)). On May 17, 2013, Judge Snyder accepted Magistrate Judge Zarefsky’s Report and Recommendation and dismissed the First District Court Action and entered judgment in favor of defendants. (See RJN Exhs. J-N.)

C. The Current Action

Now, approximately nine months after Judge Snyder dismissed the First District Court Action, Plaintiffs filed the instant action. The eleven causes of action in the Complaint fall into two categories (i) the HELOC Claims, based on the same allegations that were in the First State Court Action; and (ii) new HAMP Claims.

1 Plaintiffs' causes of action 1-6, 10 and 11 are the HELOC Claims and the causes of 2 action 7- 9 are the HAMP Claims.

3 III. MOTION TO DISMISS

4 Motions to dismiss pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) test the legal 5 sufficiency of the complaint. See Navarro v. Block, 250 F.3d 729, 732 (9th Cir.
6 2001). "To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual 7 matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S. Ct. 1937, 1949, 173 L. Ed. 2d 868 8 (2009). In ruling on a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the Court is to accept as true the 9 factual allegations of the complaint; however, allegations amounting to nothing 10 more than legal conclusions are not entitled to the assumption of truth. Id.

11 IV. ARGUMENT

12 A. Plaintiffs' HELOC Claims Are Barred By *Res Judicata

13 California courts have uniformly held, "[r]es judicata prevents litigation of 14 all grounds for, or defenses to, recovery that were previously available to the 15 parties, regardless of whether they were asserted or determined in the prior 16 proceeding. Res judicata thus encourages reliance on judicial decisions, bars 17 vexatious litigation, and frees the courts to resolve other disputes." Ellis v. Reddy, 18 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 65210, *3 (E.D. Cal. 2013) (citation omitted) (emphasis 19 added); see also Palomar Mobilehome Park Ass'n v. City of San Marcos, 989 F.2d 20 362, 364 (9th Cir. 1993) ("California recognizes that the doctrine of res judicata 21 will bar not only claims actually litigated in a prior proceeding, but also claims that 22 could have been litigated" in the prior suit.); see Nordhorn v. Ladish Co., Inc., 9 23 F.3d 1402, 1405 (9th Cir. 1993).

24 1. The HELOC Claims Were Raised Or Could Have Been 25 Raised In the First State Court Action

26 Plaintiffs' HELOC Claims were brought, could have been brought, or rely on 27 issues previously litigated in the First State Court Action and are, therefore, barred 28

1 by the doctrine of res judicata. Under California law, courts “employ the ‘primary 2 rights’ theory to determine what constitutes the same ‘cause of action’ for [res
 3 judicata] purposes.” Maldonado v. Harris, 370 F.3d 945, 952 (9th Cir. 2004).
 4 Under the primary rights theory, a “cause of action” is (1) a primary right possessed 5 by the plaintiff, (2) a corresponding primary duty devolving upon the defendant, 6 and (3) a harm done by the defendant which consists in a breach of such primary 7 right and duty.” City of Martinez v. Texaco Trading & Transp., Inc., 353 F.3d 758, 8 762 (9th Cir. 2003); Payne v. Mono County, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 69385, *24 9 (C.D. Cal. 2013) (emphasis added).

10 Here, Plaintiffs’ HELOC Claims are barred by the doctrine of res judicata.
 11 The factual allegations in both matters relate to the same subject matter, the same 12 alleged injury and the same alleged misconduct. (See gen. Compl.; RJN Exh. C.) 13 Specifically, Plaintiffs’ Complaint and the First State Court Action both were based 14 on allegations that WaMu acted improperly during the origination of Plaintiffs’ 15 HELOC and as a result Defendant could not have been assigned any interest in their 16 loan. (See gen., Compl.; RJN Exh. C.) These allegations have already been 17 addressed squarely by the state courts. (RNJ Exh. H.)

18 The similarity between the HELOC Claims and the First State Court Action 19 are obvious on their face. For example, in the First State Court Action, Plaintiffs 20 asserted claims against Defendant for: cancellation or rescission (third cause of 21 action) and quiet title (fourth cause of action). In the Complaint, Plaintiffs have 22 again asserted causes of action for: cancellation of instruments (fourth cause of 23 action) and quiet title (second cause of action). Accordingly, these two causes of 24 action are unquestionably precluded under res judicata. See Palomar Mobilehome
 25 Park Ass’n, 989 F.2d at 364. Similarly, the issue of the HELOC and the DOT’s 26 validity and their assignment to Defendant was previously adjudicated in the First 27 State Court Action. Plaintiffs are now precluded by res judicata from re-litigating 28 this issue. Therefore, the remaining HELOC Claims (causes of action 1, 3, 5, 6, 10 1 and 11) fail as a matter of law because they are all based on allegations surrounding 2 the validity and assignment of the HELOC and the DOT, and therefore should have 3 been raised, could have been raised or rely in part on previously litigated issues, in 4 the First State Court Action.

5 2. Judgment Was Entered On The Merits In The First State 6 Court Action

7 On April 21, 2011, the Superior Court dismissed Defendant from the First 8 State Court Action on the merits with prejudice and entered judgment in 9 Defendant's favor on May 4, 2011. (See RJN Exhs. D-E). "A judgment given after 10 the sustaining of a general demurrer on a ground of substance...may be deemed a 11 judgment on the merits...." Brambila v. Wells Fargo Bank, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12 157203, *12 (N.D. Cal. 2012). Such is the case here. The First State Court Action 13 was dismissed based on the superior court sustaining Defendant's demurrer after 14 finding Plaintiffs had failed to state a claim. (See RJN Exhs. D-E.) Additionally, 15 the appellate court recognized that a final judgment was issued by the superior 16 court. (See RJN Exh. G (Plaintiff "appeals from a judgment entered against him 17 following the trial court's order.")) Accordingly, the prior judgment was entered 18 on the merits for res judicata purposes.

19 3. The First State Court Action And The Complaint Have 20 Identical Parties

21 Plaintiffs brought both the First State Court Action and the Complaint, and 22 JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. is a named defendant in both actions. (See gen., 23 Compl. and RJN Exh. A, C.) Therefore, Defendant may assert res judicata in the 24 instant action because both lawsuits involved the same parties. See Nordhorn, 9 F.3d at 1405.

25 Accordingly, as causes of action 1-6, 10 and 11 in the Complaint are all 26 based on grounds that were previously available to Plaintiffs in the First State Court 27 Action, they are all barred by the doctrine of res judicata, as a final judgment was 28

1 issued on the merits in the First State Court Action, and the parties are identical.

2 B. Plaintiffs' HELOC Claims Are Barred Under The Rooker-Feldman Doctrine

3 Federal courts "are required to give state court judgments the preclusive 4 effect they would be given by another court of that state." See Brodheim v. Cry, 5 584 F.3d 1262, 1268 (9th Cir. 2009). This Court may not serve as an appellate 6 court and review Judge Sohigian's prior order and judgment, the California Court 7 of Appeal's affirmation of that order and judgment, and the California Supreme 8 Court's denial of review. See Glade v. Glade, 38 Cal.App.4th 1441, 1450 (1995).
9 As in the First District Court Action, under the Rooker-Feldman doctrine this Court 10 should decline subject-matter jurisdiction to review the state court's decision in the 11 First State Court Action on the merits. See Markowicz, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 12 72095 at *4-7 ("Plaintiffs are challenging unfavorable state court rulings" and 13 Rooker-Feldman bars "cases brought by state-court losers.") (emphasis in original); 14 see also Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Saudi Indus. Corp., 544 U.S. 280, 283-84; 125 S. Ct.
15 1517; 161 L. Ed. 2d 454 (2005). Accordingly, the HELOC Claims are barred on 16 the independent ground of Rooker-Feldman because Plaintiffs, state-court losers, 17 are seeking "appellate" review of a state court judgment.

18 C. Plaintiffs Fail To State A Claim For Any Cause of Action

19 1. First Cause Of Action: Plaintiffs Fail To State A Claim
20 Under Cal. Civ. Code § 1750

21 Plaintiffs' challenge to Defendant's right to collect mortgage payments and 22 claim that Defendant violated Consumer Legal Remedies Act ("CLRA") Cal. Civ.
23 Code § 1750, et seq. by improperly servicing, collecting and instituting foreclosure 24 proceedings on their loan fails as a matter of law. (See Compl. ¶¶ 133-140). The 25 CLRA makes unlawful certain "unfair methods of competition and unfair or 26 deception acts or practices undertaken by any person in a transaction intended to 27 result or which results in the sale or lease of goods or services to any consumer." 28 Cal. Civ. Code § 1770(a). "Services" are defined as "work, labor, and services for

1 other than a commercial or business use, including services furnished in connection 2 with the sale or repair of goods.” Id. at § 1761(b). California courts have 3 consistently found that the collection of payments pursuant to a contractual 4 obligation is not a “service” and does not violate the CLRA. See Consumer 5 Solutions REO, LLC v. Hillery, 658 F.Supp.2d 1002, 1015, 1016-17 (N.D. Cal.
 6 2009). Accordingly, courts have consistently dismissed CLRA claims premised 7 entirely on a borrower’s challenge to the validity of a mortgage loan. See 8 Consumer Solutions REO, LLC, 658 F.Supp.2d at 1015, 1017. Plaintiffs concede 9 that they executed the HELOC and DOT which obligated them to remit monthly 10 principal and interest payments. (See gen., Compl.; RJN Exh. O.) As such, 11 Defendant’s receipt of such monthly payments is not a violation of the CLRA and 12 Plaintiff’s first cause of action should be dismissed.

13 2. Second Cause Of Action: Plaintiffs Have Failed To State A 14 Claim For Quiet Title

15 Plaintiffs allege that Defendants “have no right to title or interest” in the 16 Property and, therefore, seeks to quiet title in their benefit, but offer no facts or 17 basis for their claims that Plaintiffs deserve title. (Compl. ¶ 143.) “The purpose of a 18 quiet title action is to establish one’s title against adverse claims to real property. A 19 basic requirement of an action to quiet title is an allegation that plaintiffs are the 20 rightful owners of the property, i.e., that they have satisfied their obligation under 21 the Deed of Trust.” Yanik v. Countrywide Home Loans, Inc., 2010 U.S. Dist.
 22 LEXIS 115717, * 19-20 (C.D. Cal. 2010). The California Supreme Court has held 23 that it is “settled...that a mortgagor cannot quiet his title against the mortgagee 24 without paying the debt secured.” Shimpones v. Stickney, 219 Cal. 637, 649 (1934); 25 see also Rosas v. Carnegie Mort., LLC, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 71262, *22-23 26 (C.D. Cal. 2012.) Courts in the Central District have repeatedly cited the rule that 27 the mortgagee must pay the debt first in dismissing claims for quiet title. See, e.g., 28 Rosas, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 71262 at *23; Yanik, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS

1 115717, * 19-20. Importantly, a “plaintiff in a quiet title suit is not helped by the 2 weakness of his adversary’s title but must stand on the strength of his or her own,” 3 such that a quiet title claim does not exist simply because Plaintiffs challenge 4 Defendant’s right to title. Shimpones, 219 Cal. at 649. Here, Plaintiffs have not 5 satisfied the legal prerequisite to a quiet title claim because they fail to allege that 6 they have tendered the amount due on their loan obligations. Indeed, because 7 Plaintiffs concede that there are amounts outstanding and owed on the HELOC, this 8 cause of action must be dismissed.

9 3. Third Cause Of Action: Plaintiffs Have Failed To State A 10 Claim For Slander Of Title

11 Plaintiffs allege that Defendant slandered their title based on the recordation 12 of a Notice of Default (“NOD”), Substitution of Trustee (“Substitution”), 13 Assignment of Deed of Trust (“Assignment”) and Notice of Trustee’s Sale 14 (“NOTS”). (See Compl. ¶ 148.) To properly plead a cause of action for slander of 15 title, Plaintiffs must allege: (1) a publication; (2) which is without privilege or 16 justification; (3) which is false, and (4) which causes direct and immediate 17 pecuniary loss. See Manhattan Loft. LLC v. Mercury Liquors. Inc., 173 18 Cal.App.4th 1040, 1050-1051 (2009). Plaintiffs’ Complaint fails to establish these 19 elements. The recording, mailing and delivering of the NOD, Substitution, 20 Assignment, and NOTS are per se privileged acts and negate any claim for slander 21 of title. Under Cal. Civ. Code § 2924(d) and Cal. Civ. Code § 47, the “mailing, 22 publication, and delivery” of foreclosure notices and “performance” of foreclosure 23 “procedures” are “privileged communications.” Following the Civil Code, courts 24 have concluded “that the protection granted to nonjudicial foreclosure...is qualified 25 common interest privilege of section 47, subdivision (c)(1).” Flores v. EMC Mortg.
 26 Co., 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20772, *69-71 (E.D. Cal. 2014); see also Dubose v.
 27 Suntrust Mortg., Inc., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 55356, *9 (N.D. Cal. 2012). Further, 28 foreclosure notices do not slander title in that they do not disparage land. See Ortiz

1 v. Accredited Home Lenders, Inc., 639 F.Supp.2d 1159, 1168 (S.D.Cal. 2009).

2 Thus, the recording, mailing or delivery of foreclosure documents are privileged 3 and cannot support a claim for slander of title and this cause of action should be 4 dismissed.²

5 4. Fourth Cause Of Action: Plaintiffs Have Failed To State A 6 Claim For Cancellation

7 Plaintiffs claim for cancellation of the NOD, Assignment, and NOTS fails as 8 a matter of law. Under Cal. Civ. Code § 3412, a written instrument may be 9 canceled only if “there is a reasonable apprehension that if left outstanding it may 10 cause serious injury to a person again whom it is void or voidable.” Plaintiffs must 11 also establish standing to make such a claim and demonstrate a reasonable 12 apprehension of “serious injury.”

13 Plaintiff does not have standing to assert the right to cancellation. Plaintiffs 14 primarily argue that the Assignment from WaMu to Defendant was improper and, 15 therefore, the NOD and NOTS filed by Defendant are improper. (See Compl. ¶ 16 158) (Defendant “caused the recordation of the NOD, the Assignment of the DOT, 17 and the NOTS instruments to be prepared and recorded without a factual or legal 18 basis for doing so.”) Plaintiffs do not, because they cannot, allege facts to establish 19 standing to challenge the Assignment. Indeed, not only did the First State Court 20 Action already reject Plaintiffs’ challenge as to the validity of the Assignment (See 21 RJN Exhs D-E), but Plaintiffs do not even allege to be a party or third party 22 beneficiary to the Assignment, and therefore they have no grounds to challenge the 23 Assignment. See Moriarity v. Nationstar Mortgage, LLC, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS
24 26169, *12 (E.D. Cal. 2014); see also Velasco v. Sec. Nat’l Mortg. Co., 823
25 F.Supp.2d 1061, 1067 (D. Haw. 2011). “It follows that Plaintiffs also lack standing

26 ² To the extent that Plaintiffs’ third, fourth, sixth, tenth and eleventh causes of 27 action are premised on the recording of the NOD in 2010 (see RJN Exh. P), these 28 causes of action also fail as they are time-barred. See Cal. Civ. Proc. Code §§ 337, 338 & 343; Cal. Bus. & Prof Code § 17208.

1 to challenge the Substitution, NOD, and NOTS, because they do not have standing 2 to challenge the Assignment.” Banares v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 2014 U.S. Dist.
 3 LEXIS 29909, *17 (N.D. Cal. 2014). (Plaintiffs lack standing to challenge a 4 Substitution, NOD or NOTS because they cannot challenge the Assignment). As 5 the validity of the Assignment is valid, Plaintiffs’ claim for cancellation must fail.

6 Moreover, Plaintiffs have failed to plead sufficient facts to establish a 7 “serious injury” such that the NOD, Assignment, and NOTS are void or voidable.
 8 Plaintiffs have not alleged how their obligations under the HELOC have changed 9 nor have they identified any “serious injury” that would result from the NOD, 10 Assignment, and NOTS, let alone whether such documents are void or voidable.
 11 See Siliga v. Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc., 219 Cal.App.4th 75, 12 85 (2013). Plaintiffs’ simple allegation that they will “suffer loss and damages” is 13 insufficient. Accordingly, Plaintiffs’ claim for cancellation should be dismissed.

14 5. Fifth Cause Of Action: Plaintiffs Fail to State A Claim For 15 Violation Of The Rosenthal Act

16 Plaintiffs’ fifth cause of action for violation of the Rosenthal Act, Cal. Civ.
 17 Code § 1788, et seq. (the “Rosenthal Act”) is completely devoid of any facts to 18 support such a claim. To state a claim under the Rosenthal Act, Plaintiffs must 19 properly plead that Defendant was a “debt collector...engaging in unfair or 20 deceptive acts or practices in the collection of consumer debts.” Cal. Civ. Code § 21 1788.1. Here, Plaintiffs not only fail to identify the provision of the Rosenthal Act 22 that was allegedly violated, but also fail to assert how Defendant allegedly violated 23 the Act or how the Act applies here. (Compl. ¶ 164.)

24 This claim fails for four reasons. First, as discussed above, the First State 25 Court Action has already determined the validity of the Assignment of the HELOC, 26 and, as such, the issues cannot be re-litigated before the Court. Second, this claim 27 is time-barred to the extent it is premised on Defendant’s public recordation of 28 foreclosure documents and initiated foreclosure proceedings in 2010. See Compl. ¶

164; see also Bennett v. Portfolio Recovery Assocs., LLC, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 172991 (C.D. Cal. 2013) (“the Rosenthal Act contain[s] statutes of limitation that run one year from the date of the violation. Cal. Civ. Code § 1788.30(f).”). Third, as noted above, the Complaint is completely devoid of any facts identifying how the Rosenthal Act even applies to this case, yet alone how the Act was violated by Defendant. By failing to plead sufficient factual details regarding Defendant’s objectionable actions, a Rosenthal Act claim cannot stand. See Zakar v. CHL Mortgage Pass-Through Trust 2006, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 118763, *12-13 (S.D. Cal. 2011) (dismissing Rosenthal Act claim for failure to plead sufficient facts). Last, a foreclosure pursuant to a deed of trust, as is the case here, does not constitute debt collection under the Rosenthal Act. See, e.g., Izenberg, 589 F.Supp.2d at 1199; Zakar, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS at *12-13; Sipe v. Countrywide Bank, 690 F.Supp.2d 1141, 1151 (E.D. Cal. 2010) (“[F]oreclosure pursuant to a deed of trust does not constitute debt collection under the [Rosenthal Act].”) (citation omitted); Canales v. Fed. Home Loan Mortg. Corp., 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 83860, * 15 (C.D. Cal. 2011) (“foreclosing on a property pursuant to a deed of trust is not considered debt collection.”); Reyes-Aguilar v. Bank of Am., 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 37036, *49 (N.D. Cal. 2014).

6. Sixth Cause Of Action: Plaintiffs Fail To State A Claim For A Violation Of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200

a. Plaintiffs Do Not Have Standing To Bring UCL Claim

Plaintiffs do not have standing to bring a claim under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq. (the “UCL”). To have standing, Plaintiffs “must... demonstrate injury in fact and a loss of money or property caused by unfair competition.” Peterson v. Cellco P’ship, 164 Cal.App.4th 1583, 1590 (2008). Plaintiffs must allege a “distinct and palpable injury,” one that is “concrete and particularized” and “not conjectural or hypothetical.” Id. While Plaintiffs’ UCL claim is based on the erroneous theory that Defendant is not authorized to enforce the terms of the HELOC and DOT, Plaintiffs have not articulated any actual pecuniary loss other than being required to make mortgage payments pursuant to their HELOC. See e.g., Compl. ¶ 170; see also Auerbach v. Great Western Bank, 74 Cal.App.4th 1172, 1185 (1999). Instead, Plaintiffs vaguely claim to have suffered financial harm, psychological stress and damaged credit; none of which can be directly attributed to Defendant rather than to their own failure to re-pay their debts. See Winding v. Cal-Western Reconveyance Corp., 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8962, * 24-25 (E.D. Cal. 2011); Sterling Sav. Bank v. Poulsen, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 105948 (N.D. Cal. 2013).

b. Plaintiffs Fail To State A Claim Under The UCL

The UCL establishes three types of unfair competition: acts or practices which are (1) unlawful, or (2) unfair or (3) fraudulent. See Cal-Tech Commc'ns., Inc. v. L.A. Cellular Tel. Co., 20 Cal.4th 163, 180 (1999). As detailed below, Plaintiffs fail to assert a UCL claim under any of the three prongs.

(1) Plaintiffs Have Failed To Allege An Unlawful Business Act Or Practice

To state a cause of action based on an “unlawful” business act or practice under the UCL, a plaintiff must allege facts sufficient to show a violation of some underlying law. See Lazar v. Hertz Corp., 69 Cal.App.4th 1494, 1505 (1999) (“In effect, the UCL borrows violations of other laws-such as the state’s antidiscrimination laws-and makes those unlawful practices actionable under the UCL”). Thus, a UCL claim stands or falls depending on the fate of antecedent substantive causes of action. See Krantz v. BT Visual Images, 89 Cal.App.4th 164, 178 (2001). In support of this claim, Plaintiffs merely state that the antecedent substantive causes of action are “as fully set forth above” and then list ten “examples” of alleged deceptive business practices. (See Compl. ¶ 170(a)-(j).) Plaintiffs do not provide any additional facts to support the ten “examples,” or provide any details as to what claims “set forth above” are being incorporated into

1 the UCL claim or provide evidence of a violation of any law. For the reasons 2 discussed throughout this motion, because each and every one of the causes of 3 action pled against Defendant fails as a matter of law, and so too must Plaintiffs' 4 UCL claim.

5 (2) Plaintiffs Have Failed To Allege An Unfair
 6 Business Act Or Practice

7 A business act is “unfair” when it “offends an established public policy or 8 when the practice is immoral, unethical, oppressive, unscrupulous, or substantially 9 injurious to consumers.” See S. Bay Chevrolet v. Gen. Motors Acceptance Corp., 10 72 Cal.App.4th 861, 886-87 (1999); see also Scripps Clinic v. Superior Court, 108 11 Cal.App.4th 917, 941 (2009). A plaintiff alleging unfair business practices “must 12 state with reasonable particularity the facts supporting the statutory elements of the 13 violation.” See Khoury v. Maly’s of Cal., Inc., 14 Cal.App.4th 612, 619 (1993).

14 Here, Plaintiffs have not articulated any conduct that offends an established 15 public policy nor have they alleged any conduct that is “immoral, unethical, 16 oppressive, unscrupulous, or substantially injurious to consumers.” Plaintiffs’ 17 claim rests exclusively on the allegation that Defendant failed to modify their loan 18 under HAMP. (See Compl. ¶ 177). Plaintiffs cannot merely disguise their HAMP
 19 claim as a UCL claim. See Gale v. Aurora Loan Servs. 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20 53577 (D. Utah 2011); see also Toneman v. United States Bank, 2013 U.S. Dist.
 21 LEXIS 98996, * 77-78 (C.D. Cal. 2013) . Further, for reasons discussed more 22 thoroughly below, Plaintiffs have provided no evidence that Defendant was 23 obligated to modify their loan under any program. See Pazargad v. Wells Fargo
 24 Bank, N.A., 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 94850, * 7-8 (C.D. Cal. 2011)

25 (3) Plaintiffs Have Failed To Allege A Fraudulent
 26 Business Act Or Practice

27 A UCL claim based on the “fraud” prong must meet Rule 9’s heightened 28 pleading standard, which Plaintiffs have failed to do here. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 9(b);

1 see also Kearns v. Ford Motor Co., 567 F. 3d 1120, 1125 (9th Cir. 2009) (“Rule 2 9(b)’s heightened pleading standards apply to claims for violations of the ...
 3 UCL.”) “In a fraud action against a corporation [Plaintiffs are required] to allege 4 the names of the persons who made the allegedly fraudulent representations, their 5 authority to speak, to whom they spoke, what they said or wrote and when it was 6 said or written.” Rowen v. Bank of Am., N.A., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 81991, *11 7 (C.D. Cal. 2012). In other words, allegations of fraud must be specific enough to 8 give Defendant notice of the particular misconduct so that it can defend against the 9 charges. See Alicea v. GE Money Bank, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 51296, *6 (N.D.
 10 Cal. 2009).

11 Here, Plaintiffs have not pled their fraud claim with any specificity. In a 12 single paragraph, Plaintiffs merely allege that Defendant through “fraudulent acts 13 and practices” has improperly obtained money from class members. (Compl. ¶ 14 186.) Simply, there are no facts to identify any “fraudulent acts and practices.”
 15 Accordingly, because fail to state a claim as to any of the three prongs of the UCL, 16 this claim must be dismissed.

17 7. Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Causes of Action: Plaintiffs Fail 18 To State Any Claim Under HAMP

19 Plaintiffs’ Seventh and Eighth causes of action are essentially identical and, 20 as with the Ninth cause of action, are grounded on the allegation that Defendant did 21 not modify Plaintiffs’ loan in accordance with the HAMP program. For the reasons 22 discussed more thoroughly below, Plaintiffs have: (1) no standing to bring an action 23 under HAMP; (2) failed to plead facts to demonstrate that they even qualified for a 24 HAMP modification; (3) failed to plead the existence of any contract to which they 25 are a party or beneficiary; and (4) failed to allege sufficient facts suggesting that 26 Defendant promised to permanently modify their loan. As such, all of Plaintiffs’ 27 HAMP Claims fail as a matter of law.

1 a. There Is No Private Right Of Action For Failure To 2 Secure A HAMP Modification

3 Despite Plaintiffs’ allegation to the contrary, it is settled, that: (1) there is no 4 private right of action under HAMP; and (2) lenders do not have a duty to provide 5 borrowers with a loan modification under HAMP. See Bastida v. Indymac Bank, 6 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 75586, *9 (C.D. Cal. 2011) (“Plaintiffs have no standing to 7 sue under HAMP, which does not allow for a private right of action under 8 HAMP.”); Cleveland v. Aurora Loan Servs., LLC, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 55168, 9 *10-11 (N.D. Cal. 2011).

10 b. Plaintiffs Were Never Eligible Under HAMP

11 To qualify for a HAMP modification, a borrower must meet certain criteria.
 12 One of the conditions a borrower must meet is that “the unpaid principal balance on 13 the mortgage is less than or equal to $729,750.” Rosas, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14 71262 at * 5-6 (listing the criteria to qualify for a HAMP loan modification.).
 15 While Plaintiffs have premised much of their case on Defendant’s failure to provide 16 a HAMP modification, the allegations in the Complaint demonstrate that Plaintiffs 17 do not meet all the criteria necessary for a HAMP modification. Plaintiffs have 18 alleged that their loan was in the amount of $862,500 and public record indicates 19 that Plaintiffs’ total arrearages were beyond HAMP’s maximum threshold of 20 $729,750. (See Compl. ¶ 62; RJN Exh. Q.) Accordingly, based on Plaintiffs’ own 21 allegations, confirmed with public records, Plaintiffs were never eligible for a 22 HAMP modification.

23 c. Plaintiffs Have No Contract Right To A Loan
 24 Modification (Seventh Cause of Action)

25 Plaintiffs’ Seventh Cause of Action asserts a breach of a “Trial Payment 26 Plan” (“TPP”) agreement with Defendant. Missing from Plaintiffs’ Complaint – 27 and from reality – is the existence or even allegation of the existence of a TPP
 28 agreement. Plaintiffs’ failure to plead facts sufficient to establish the existence of a

1 contract with Defendant is fatal to their breach of contract claim. To succeed with a 2 breach of contract claim, Plaintiffs must establish: (1) the existence of a contract; 3 (2) Plaintiffs' performance or excuse for nonperformance; (3) Defendant's breach;
 4 and (4) resulting damages. See Vaccarino v. Midland Nat'l Life Ins. Co., 2013 U.S.
 5 Dist. LEXIS 88612, *56 (C.D. Cal. 2013). Moreover, where a written instrument is 6 the foundation of a cause of action, the terms must be pled exactly in haec verba by 7 (1) attaching a copy as an exhibit and incorporating it by proper reference or (2) by 8 setting out its terms verbatim in the body of the complaint. See Valvoline Instant 9 Oil Change v. RFG, Inc., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 110753, *14 (S.D. Cal. 2013).

10 Here, the Complaint is silent as to the existence of any contract with 11 Defendant to modify their HELOC. Plaintiffs do not allege that they executed a 12 TPP or that any such agreement was ever reduced to writing for their HELOC.
 13 Instead, Plaintiffs rely on vague, general allegations about the existence of 14 modification contracts generally, but provide no details. See Martinez v. Wells 15 Fargo Bank, N.A., 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 53924, *8 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 2014) ("A 16 claim for breach of contract in California requires [the actual] existence of [an 17 executory] contract..."). Plaintiffs' breach of contract claim may not survive a 18 challenge to the pleading merely by alleging that unnamed, undefined putative 19 members of the "Sub-Class" may have had written agreements for loan 20 modification with Defendant. See Compl. ¶ 196; see also Coleman v. Jenny Craig, 21 Inc., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 176294, *14-16 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 27, 2013).

22 Moreover, even if Plaintiffs properly alleged the existence of a contract, 23 which they do not, "several courts have found that HAMP trial plans do not create 24 binding contracts requiring permanent modifications." Rosas, 2012 U.S. Dist.
 25 LEXIS 71262 at *16 fn 5 (noting that "it is unlikely that plaintiffs' would be able to 26 state a viable claim for breach of TPPS" and collecting cases). As Plaintiffs have 27 failed to plead any facts or details about their alleged contract with Defendant, 28

1 Plaintiffs' contractual claim should be dismissed.³

2 d. Plaintiffs Are Not Third Party Beneficiaries To The 3 HAMP-SPA (Eighth Cause of Action)

4 Despite Plaintiffs' contentions in support of their Eighth Cause of Action for 5 Breach of the HAMP Servicer and Participation Agreement ("SPA") between 6 Defendant and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae"), 7 Plaintiffs are not third party beneficiaries thereunder and do not have standing to 8 enforce its terms. (See Compl. ¶¶ 205-210.)

9 Before a third party can recover under a contract, a plaintiff "must show that 10 the contract was made for its direct benefit - that it is an intended beneficiary of the 11 contract." Klamath Water Users Protective Ass'n v. Patterson, 204 F.3d 1206, 12 1210 (9th Cir. 2000). "Parties that benefit from a government contract are 13 generally assumed to be incidental beneficiaries, and may not enforce the contract 14 absent a clear intent to the contrary." Id. at 1211. Further, federal courts in 15 California have consistently held that borrowers are not intended third party 16 beneficiaries of the HAMP SPA and are not granted enforceable rights. See 17 Hoffman v. Bank of Am., N.A., 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 70455, *8-10 (N.D. Cal.
 18 2010) ("it would be unreasonable" for a borrower to "rely on the HAMP servicer's 19 agreement as granting him enforceable rights since the agreement does not actually 20 require that the servicer modify all eligible loans, nor does any of the other 21 language of the contract demonstrate that the borrowers are intended 22 beneficiaries.*" (emphasis added).) Accordingly, Plaintiffs are not third party 23 beneficiary under the HAMP-SPA and their cause of action for third party 24 beneficiary should be dismissed.

25 ³ As Plaintiffs have not alleged the existence of a contract with Defendant, their 26 claim for breach of the duty of good faith and fair dealing necessary fails as well.
 27 See Rosenfeld v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., 732 F.Supp.2d 952, 968 (N.D. Cal.
 28 2010) (claim for breach of implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing requires existence of underlying contract.)

e. Plaintiffs Have Failed To State A Claim For Promissory Estoppel (Ninth Cause of Action)

Plaintiffs' claim for promissory estoppel under HAMP also fails as a matter of law. To state a claim for promissory estoppel, Plaintiff must allege facts to demonstrate "(1) a promise clear and unambiguous in its terms; (2) reliance by the party to whom the promise is made; (3) [the] reliance must be both reasonable and foreseeable; and (4) the party asserting the estoppel must be injured by his reliance." Nguyen v. Pennymac Loan Servs., LLC, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 173519, *20-22 (C.D. Cal. 2012). Plaintiffs have not set forth sufficient facts to satisfy any of the four requisite elements.

Plaintiffs have failed to allege any facts in the Complaint that they were in a temporary modification program and were told by Defendant that they would receive a permanent loan modification. As with the direct contract claim, Plaintiffs provide no specifics and only allege generally, with no details, that unnamed, unknown putative members of the "Sub-Class" were induced to rely on representations made by Defendant. (Compl. ¶ 213.) Plaintiffs, by failing to allege the details of any representation made directly to them by Defendant, upon which they relied to their detriment, fail to satisfy any of the elements of a promissory estoppel claim and cannot pursue this claim on behalf of themselves or any putative class. For the foregoing reasons, the promissory estoppel claim fails and should be dismissed.

8. Tenth Cause of Action: Plaintiffs Have Failed To State A Claim For Unjust Enrichment

Plaintiffs' claim for unjust enrichment is premised entirely on a conclusory assertion that Defendant was never properly assigned Plaintiffs' mortgage and then "filed illegal Notices attempting to take ownership of Plaintiffs' property." (Compl. ¶ 221.) Based on this claim, Plaintiffs allege that Defendant was not entitled to receive any mortgage payments. (Compl. ¶ 220.) As the Assignment is proper and Plaintiffs' challenge to the Assignment was properly addressed in the

1 First State Court Action, as discussed supra, Defendant was entitled to receive 2 payments as the mortgage servicer. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' claim for unjust 3 enrichment should be dismissed.

4 9. Eleventh Cause Of Action: Plaintiffs' Declaratory &
Injunctive Relief Claims Fail

5 Plaintiffs' claims for declaratory and injunctive relief are not legally 6 cognizable. Injunctive relief and declaratory relief are prayers for relief and not 7 independent causes of action. See, e.g., Rosas, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 71262 at 8 *31 (citing Canales, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 83860 (quoting McDowell v. Watson, 9 59 Cal.App.4th 1155, 1159 (1997) ("Injunctive relief is a remedy and not, in itself, 10 a cause of action.")).) As such, this cause of action should be dismissed.

11 V. CONCLUSION

12 There are no changes to the pleadings that could revive any of Plaintiffs' 13 claims. As such, Defendant respectfully requests that this Court dismiss the 14 Complaint with prejudice. Five years is long enough; it is time for this saga to 15 end.
